Are You A "Tender Foot"?

Not in the wild western sense, but in the sense of having tender feet. If you are, we want to fit your next pair of Shoes for you. There's a great deal in the way a shoe is first put on and the way the foot settles into it. If it's tight where it should be and loose where it should be, there'll be very little trouble. We make a study of these things. Prices? Of course they're right or we would not sell so many Shoes.

MORE REBEL CHINESE.

Residents of Jehol Up in Arms Against the Powers That Rule China.

The Japanese Squadron Hovering Around Chee Foo—Officers Disgraced.

Shanghai, Oct. 8.—A dispatch received at Newchang, Gulf of Lead Tong, says the Chinese are in full retreat from Moukden, which is threatened by the advance of the Japanese troops from Corea, and the Japanese force is said to have been landing near Bossil Bay, not far from the Russian territory bordering on Corea and the Chinese province of Manchuria. It is believed here that the Chinese forces which have been [illegible] were both hastily summoned from that place to oppose the projected Japanese landing either in the Gulf of Pechili or the Gulf of Lead Tong. The Chinese have been hurriedly adding to the fortifications of Newcaang, in anticipation of a Japanese attack upon that port or a landing in its neighborhood.

The masters of Chinese junks which arrived at Cheefoo yesterday report having sighted a large fleet of Japanese transports escorted by warships Tuesday night. This Japanese fleet was then entering the Gulf of Pechili, and after steaming westward some distance the course of the warships and transports was altered to about northeast. The Japanese fleet numbered seventy ships. Their presence in the Gulf of Pechili has caused the greatest excitement here. It is believed that the Japanese fleet is the force of 50,000 men that left Hiroschima, the Japanese headquarters on September 26, under sealed orders and under command of Field Marshal Count Oyama, who is the Japanese minister of war.

Berlin, Oct. 8.—Under the approval of the emperor, Chancellor von Caprivi has telegraphed to Lord Kimberley, British foreign minister, informing him that the German squadron will co-operate with the English fleet to protect Europeans at Chinese ports, and requesting a mutual entente on the part of England whereby the English squadron shall protect German subjects and the German fleet protect English subjects.

London, Oct. 8.—A Shanghai dispatch says a rebellion has broken out in Jehol. Tientsin dispatches report that Sheng, the Taotai of that city, is in disgrace for charging the government over four times as much as he paid for some discarded rifles, bought in Germany. He also bought a quantity of useless cartridges. Li Hung Chang discovered the fraud, and in an interview with Cheng it is said he slapped Sheng's face. Sheng has been granted leave of absence.

A Cheefoo dispatch says seven Japanese warships were sighted off Wei-Hai-Wei, steaming westward. A Tientsin dispatch says the steamer Wen Chow, just arrived, reports sighting the Japanese squadron ten miles south of Cheefoo. She was hailed and questioned concerning the whereabouts of the Chinese southern squadron.

Shanghai dispatches say the United States minister at Pekin has warned the American residents that Pekin will certainly be attacked by the Japanese, and advises that ladies and children be sent to a place of safety.

British Admiral Freemantle, commanding the Chinese station, telegraphs that when his command shall be increased by three vessels he will have sufficient force at his disposal to carry out the instructions given him.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 8.—Five cruisers have been ordered to proceed to join the Russian fleet in the Pacific.

CUBAN CYCLONE.

Plantations for Miles Around Completely Devastated.

New York, Oct. 8.—Incoming vessels continue to bring details of the destruction wrought by the great cyclone which originated in the West Indies, laying waste vast tracts of land and playing havoc with everything afloat. The steamer Tyrian brought an account of the results of the visitation. She came from Gibara, whither she had gone for a cargo of bananas. None were to be had, however. The plantations for miles in the eastern end of Cuba had been devastated. About Banes 500,000 bunches of the fruit, it was estimated, had been ruined. The vessel managed to secure a small cargo of sugar and tobacco. The steamer Panama, from Havana, September 30, brought further particulars of the work of the cyclone. At Sagua la Grande, though the town is twenty miles from the coast, the high tides caused the river Sagua to rise so high that a third of the town's people were driven from their homes. The flood lasted 48 hours. Rain poured in torrents for three days, having commenced on September 28. From such reports as were at hand when the Panama sailed it was believed that the loss of life in Cuba would reach as high as 200, and the property damaged is estimated at between two and three million dollars.

THE CZAR'S HEALTH.

He Has Improved Since Leaving Spala.

Berlin, Oct. 8.—The czar's health is the uppermost topic in the public mind, and the possibility of the demise of the Russian emperor is widely discussed. The alarming reports received here, although not entirely credible, cause the liveliest interest, as it is generally admitted that the condition of the czar is extremely grave. The cautious Cologne Gazette publishes a telegram from St. Petersburg to the effect that the regency which will be appointed during the absence of the czar from Russia will consist of the czarewitch, Grand Duke Nicholas and Grand Duke Vladimir, who will be assisted by a specially appointed council of ministers. Nothing, according to the Cologne Gazette correspondent, has transpired at St. Petersburg which would tend to confirm the reports in circulation regarding changes for the worse in the condition of the czar.

Much depends upon the weather prevailing at Livadia during the czar's stay there. If the conditions are favorabe his stay there may be prolonged. It is [illegible] that the czar will proceed to Corfu, where the chateau of the king of Greece has been placed at the czar's disposal.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 8.—It was announced to-day that the state of the czar's health is not such as to give ground for anxiety. He has been better since leaving Spala, and is able to sleep well.

WENDELL HOLMES DEAD.

He Passes Away at His Home at Cambridge, Near Boston, Yesterday.

Death of the Aged Author and Poet Commented Upon by the London Press.

Boston, Oct. 8.—Oliver Wendell Holmes died yesterday at his home in Cambridge.

London, Oct. 8.—Commenting on the death of Oliver Wendell Holmes, the Westminster Gazette says: "Dr. Holmes was a warm hearted and keen witted American." The Globe says: "The news of the death of Holmes will be received by English speaking people the world over with a feeling of personal bereavement."

Oliver Wendell Holmes, M.D., was born at Cambridge, Massachusetts, Aug. 29, 1809. He graduated at Harvard College in 1829, and began the study of law, which he abandoned for that of medicine. Having attended the hospitals of Paris and other European cities, he began practice in Boston in 1836; in 1838 was elected professor of anatomy and physiology in Dartmouth college; and in 1847 was appointed to a similar professorship in the Massachusetts Medical school, from which he retired in 1882. As early as 1833 his contributions in verse appeared in various periodicals, and his reputation as a poet was established by the delivery of a metrical essay, entitled "Poetry," which was followed by others in rapid succession. As a writer of songs, lyrics and poems for festive occasions, he occupies the first place. He was for many years a popular lecturer. In 1857 he began, in the Atlantic Monthly, a series of articles under the title of "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," which were followed, in 1860, by "The Professor at the Breakfast Table," in 1872 by "The Poet at the Breakfast Table," and in 1885 by "The New Portfolio." In addition he has published "Astraea" (1850), "Currents and Counter Currents in Medical Science" (1861); "Elsie Venner, a Romance of Destiny" (1861); "Borderlands in Some Provinces of Medical science" (1862); "Songs in Many Keys" (1864); "Soundings from the Atlantic" (1864); "Humorous Poems" (1865); "The Guardian Angel" (1868); "Mechanism in Thought and Morals" (1870); "Songs of Many Seasons" (1874); "John A. Motley, a Memoir" (1878); "The Iron Gate and other Poems" (1880); "Medical Essays" (1883); "Pages from an Old Volumne of Life" (1883); "Ralph Waldo Emerson" (1884); "A Moral Antipathy" (1885); and numerous poems recited at various reunions and dinners. In 1886 he visited England, where he was received with great cordiality. Editions of his collected poems have appeared from time to time, the first in 1836, the last in 1881. He is distinguished for his researches in microscopy and auscultation, and has contributed largely to current medical literature, as well as to literary journals and reviews.

They seized him and dragging him from his buggy tied him to a tree and robbed him, after which each man fired two shots at him, all of which took effect. Burns was found half an hour later by a man who heard his groans. Burns lived only long enough to tell the story of the murder.

PROTECTION INJURES TRADE.

Protectionist Countries Suffered More Than Free Trade England.

London, Sept. 6.—Renewed confidence in the commercial situation has been created throughout the country by a circular issued by Sir Albert Rollit, president of the associated chambers of commerce, which includes in its membership all the boards of trade, chambers of commerce and similar institutions throughout Great Britain. He is a Conservative of the most progressive and enlightened type and there are few men in the country whose views on economic questions are more acceptably regarded as gospel. In the circular in question, which is being distributed in financial and commercial circles throughout the length and breadth of the country, Sir Albert Rollitt takes a most hopeful view of the prospects of trade, while paying his respects to the United States. Among other things he says: "Since the end of 1893 the indications, though variable, have been on the whole more favorable. Brazil and South America are more peaceful; Argentine is sending us supplies of wheat rivalling even those of the United States; and Chili at least finds honesty the best policy. In Australia the effects of the banks and land crisis, for which we as a money making nation were not wholly irresponsible, are passing over, and there is already a renewed demand at the Antipodes for textile and for some iron manufactures; in India the silver difficulty is allayed by the experimental closing of the mints, and in many different quarters of the world bitter experience of the effects of the exclusive tariff is opening the way, either through treaties or reduced duties, to, if not free, to freer trade. The tariffs of foreign nations have thus been shown to have injured not only our trade, but their own; "retaliation" has been proved to be disastrous, and "reciprocity" has been exploded, notably by the reciprocity clauses of the McKinley bill in favor of Brazil and other South American states."

Sil Albert Rollitt denies and ridicules the suggestion that the severe depression through which the United Kingdom has been passing is attributable to free trade and insists that during the cycle of depression protectionist countries like France, Germany and the United States have suffered more than free trade England. The preponderance of British trade, he says, is still as marked as ever, and in the case of Great Britain's colonies the preponderance is not only overwhelming but increasing. The president of the associated chambers of commerce concludes as follows:

"To British India the United Kingdom cantributes no less than 70 per cent. of the total imports, to Australia 43 per cent., and to other British possessions in nearly the same proportions; and in Europe the proportion of trade done by the British islands surpasses that of either Germany or France, while the United States not only do less but deal chiefly in goods which are not competitive with ours."

The Duke of York, heir presumptive to the throne, accompanied by the duchess, but not accompanied by their baby, the latter having been left to the tender mercies of a nurse, formally opened the new structure of Yorkshire college at Leeds on Wednesday. They were welcomed by Mayor Thomas Richmond Leuty and Recorder John Edward Barker. The day had been declared a public holiday, and as the delicate English prince and his buxom German bride passed through the depot to the carriage in waiting two hundred little school girls dressed in white and with their heads wreathed with roses emptied baskets of fragrant flowers before them. Two hundred thousand people lined the streets and gave the possible future king and his consort a true Yorkshire welcome. The formal exercises included addresses by the college authorities and representatives of the corporation of Leeds, the duke reading a two minutes' speech from manuscript. After the ceremonies their royal highnesses were entertained at luncheon in the town hall, and were subsequently banqueted by the Hon. Mrs. Meyenell Ingram at her mansion at Temple Newsham.

FAITH CURISTS.

Several Persons Who Were Treated by them Dead.

Northfield, Minn., Oct. 8.—There is much excitement at Dunbas, three miles south, over what proved to be a most heartless fraud perpetrated by a gang of faith doctors. The frauds resulted in two deaths within two days. A few days ago Gay Converse died in horrible agony with white swelling and kidney trouble. All physicians were refused and a Mrs. Gaylord, half crazed, aged 60, was given the case for treatment by the faith. For days the most terrible groans were uttered by this crazy woman, calling on God "to change His mind and cure this poor man, who believes in you." Finally the patient, who had been confined to his bed and had been nothing but a skeleton for months, was dragged out of bed and made to walk around the yard. He was then pronounced cured. This was at five o'clock in the evening, and at six o'clock the next morning the man was dead.

Yesterday morning the same result occurred in the case of Miss Sarah Graveline, who was absolutely killed by one of these faith curists, Rev. Mr. Gebhardt, a Lutheran preacher. Not a physician was allowed to come near the patient, who was a young woman suffering [illegible] the girl died with a complication of diseases. Some time ago this scheme was devised by these people, headed by C. Wilscocks of this city and several others. Miss Addie Somers was selected. She was a healthy woman of 26. They put her to bed. Then Drs. J. P. Phillips of this city and Thompson Tucker and St. Clair of St. Paul were called in to treat. All abandoned the case, and after the woman had lain in bed six months she was cured in five days by these faith doctors. She claimed not to have eaten much for three months and to be ill with consumption. The physicians say the reason they quit the case was because she was not sick. The money making schemes upon the lives of superstitious people has aroused much indignation among the general public, and a plan to break up the affair is being discussed.

LADY BICYCLISTS.

Mrs. Kendall Thinks the Wheels Are for Men Only.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Mrs. Kendall has written an article on women bicycle riders, in which she says: "Riding astride of horses, a camel, or any animal, is not feminine, and never will be so, according to the laws of nature. Bicycle riding is a violent exercise. Can it be good for women? If a girl of sixteen does exactly what a boy of that age does, bicycling is no more harmful to her than a dozen other rough sports the males have always enjoyed. Can a girl of sixteen do what her brother does without endangering her health? I say she cannot. When a girl gets astride her bicycle she bids farewell to good looks. If she develops new muscles, be sure some other part of her will suffer, some faculty will be slighted, some natural trait undeveloped. As for bloomers, they are abominable."

MCKINLEY BOOM.

Republicans Already Bringing Their Candidate to the Front.

Boston, Oct. 6.—Governor McKinley's boom for the next Republican presidential nomination will be considerably "in evidence" before many moons otherwise than through the columns of the press. Yesterday a firm not on hundred miles from this city that is engaged in the manufacture of specialties and which is responsible for the McKinley badge, of which some 50,000 were sold by street peddlers in Indianapolis, Findlay, O., Gallopolis, O., St. Louis, and other points that the Ohio governor has visited during the past ten days upon the requisition of the various state committees, received an order from a western notion house for a round half million of the devices to be delivered in instalments of one hundred thousand a month for the next five months. The badge has as its ground work a bar of thick tin plate with the name "McKinley" stamped in deep letters upon its face. From it is pendant a round life-like presentment of the face of the Napoleon of high tariff, about the size of a Bland dollar, and with a frame of thin tin. Below this again is pendant a tri-colored ribbon about two inches in depth with the suggestive figures "1896." The letters on the bar, the portrait below and the figures again beneath are simply heiroglyphics which mean, "For President, 1896, William McKinley, of Ohio," all of which is a straw indicating that the forthcoming presidential campaign, at least so far as the Republican party is concerned, has been inaugurated a trifle earlier than at any times since the Woods ceased existence and the flag of the Republican party was nailed to the masthead.

HAGGART'S WINNING WAY.

The Minister of Railways Carries His Protege Into Ottawa Collectorship.

Tupper Goes Campaigning in Nova Scotia—Bungling at the Sault Canal.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—The present administration does so little that is deserving of creditable mention that when they do something no one ought to begrudge them credit for the same. Out of the many vacancies which lie on their hands and the non-filling of which is so detrimental to the public service, they have at last succeeded in making one small appointment. To-morrow morning Benjamin Batson of this city will commence his duties as collector of customs at this port. It is close on three years since the government have been endeavoring to appoint Mr. Batson. At least one section of the ministry has, while another has been opposing it. But Mr. Harrart was with Mr. Batson, and Mr. Haggart always comes out on top. When Mr. Chapleau was minister of customs he recommended to council the appointment of Mr. J. R. Esmonde, a local Conservative, but Mr. Haggart threw it out. Then Mr. Bowell and Clarke Wallace, who control the customs, insisted that the present collector, Mr. Wilson, was quite able to fill the office, and they refused to make any recommendation for a new man. This was sensible, because Mr. Batson is not far from seventy years old and Mr. Wilson is only two or three years his senior, so that the superannuation of Mr. Batson cannot be long after that of Mr. Wilson. But this was of no consequence, so long as Mr. Haggart desired Mr. Batson's appointment. However, Mr. Wallace and Mr. Bowell would not recommend the superannuation of Mr. Wilson, and there the matter stuck for months and months. At last Mr. Wallace took a trip to the old country and Mr. Wood was acting for him. Now Mr. Wood is a protege of Mr. Haggart. The latter seized his opportunity and got Mr. Wood to make the necessary recommendation, so that Mr. Batson has at last got the office. Clarke Wallace has a strong influence in the government, much stronger than the premier, but he cannot cope with Haggart. At any rate, the government is to be congratulated that after three years' struggling and fighting over the collectorship here it should be settled, even if it will cost the country a nice little sum in the way of superannuations.

There are nine vacancies in the senate, two vacancies in the house of commons, the lieut.-governorship of Manitoba cannot be filled, the chief justiceship of British Columbia is also vacant, as well as the chief justiceship of Quebec, not to speak of a number of judgeships all over the Dominion; the collectorship of customs of Montreal has been open for years, and so is the post office inspectorship of that district, besides a number of smaller offices, and the government is unable to fill any of them. But, while all this is true, the government, after three years' fighting over it, has filled the Ottawa collectorship. Let us be thankful for small mercies.

No sooner did Sir John Thompson reach Montreal on his way back to Ottawa than Mr. Ouimet left that city and returned to the capital. There was a meeting of some of the local Conservatives in Montreal with the premier and Sir Adolphe Caron, but Mr. Ouimet, who is supposed to have control of the Montreal district, was not there. He left the night before and came to Ottawa. When Sir John Thompson was on his way from Montreal to Ottawa Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper was enroute for the Maritime Provinces. The premier hurried back to Ottawa before completing his holidays in Nova Scotia to see why the western tour of Ouimet and Tupper had been abandoned and to endeavor to get his rebellious colleagues in line, and before he could get here they were on their way elsewhere. It took him three days before he could muster a meeting of the cabinet.

Sir Hibbert Tupper is able to go on a stumping tour in Nova Scotia, but he was not able to go out west. The premier did not want him to go to Nova Scotia, but he did ask him to go to the western provinces. They are indeed a happy family.

The government acted wisely in postponing the official opening of the Canadian "Soo" canal until next spring. Had the official opening taken place when the water was taken in last Tuesday the defects of the structure would not only have been [illegible] who would have gesticulated there, but would have been commented upon. As it was Mr. Haggart and his party, Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, went away quietly together and in the presence of the contractors the water was let into the canal. Now that the water is in the bulging out of the crib work in the prism will be hid from view by the water. The only glaring piece of defect that will be apparent to the eye will be the pile trestle built in the centre of the prism to carry over the Canadian Pacific railway, and which will prove a great obstacle to navigation, narrowing as it does the channel at this point to about 70 feet. This blemish will yet have to be removed. It is impossible for the present government to carry on any great work without bungling it. As to whether or not there has been any bolting in connection with the work that will come out later on.

The close alliance which exists between the big manufacturers and the Dominion government is well illustrated in the case of Mr. Massey, of the Massey-Harris agricultural implement firm, and the interview which Mr. Foster gave to the government organs concerning the same. Mr. Massey told an American journalist that he was intending to establish works in the United States, as the Democratic tariff gave him more advantages as far as the raw material was concerned, than the Canadian tariff. The Yankee editor published the interview, as it was intended for publication. Mr. Foster at once took issue with Mr. Massey. The result of it has been that Mr. Massey now asks the editor to say that the Democratic tariff was not the exact cause of his contemplated moving from Canada to the States. The editor replies that he cannot make this statement because it would not be correct, since Mr. Massey distinctly told him that was the cause. The editor adds that he would have liked to accommodate Mr. Massey, since it is apparent that the latter has got himself into trouble with the Canadian finance minister, and that Mr. Foster is evidently willing to make some reductions in the raw material to Mr. Massey if he (Massey) would deny that ugly statement about the tariff, which is so condemnatory of the National Policy. The readiness of Mr. Foster to rush into print to defend his pet industries, when others are allowed to battle against all kinds of open competition, makes people once more ask each other if it is right after all that the great masses of the people ought to pay tribute to the Messrs. Massey, Redpath, Drummond, et al.

The report of the Dominion fishery commission to inquire into the inland fisheries of Ontario has just been printed. The commissioners were Samuel Wilmot and Edward Harris. As to the depletion of the fisheries their conclusions are as follows:

1 Fishing in the spawning seasons and while fish are congregating for that purpose, going to and returning from the shores, bars, bays, reefs and rivers, which are their breeding haunts.

2. The great destruction of immature fish in pound and gill nets and seines.

3. The waste of great quantities of fish by the use of unlimited lengths of gill nets.

4. The use of too small meshes in all nets.

5. The great deposits of refuse matter from saw mills, and from the towage of immense rafts of saw logs across the fishing grounds into the United States.

These causes, each or combined, are in direct violation of nature's laws in not giving all fish full freedom to replenish the waters at their spawning times, and killing them before reaching maturity for reproductive purposes.

Wonderful Yield of Potatoes—Captain Fitzstubbs After Big Game.

Kamloops Sentinel.

It is said that Editor Houston of the Nelson Tribune is defendant in an action for $10,000, brought by Captain Fitzstubbs, government agent, for defamatory libel. Captain Fitzstubbs has been a mark for the Tribune's shafts for months, but now the other party is on the aggressive.

Mr. C. A. Semlin related to the Inland Sentinel this week a wonderful yield of potatoes on the farm of Mr. P. Parke, Bonaparte. Last spring Mr. Parke got one pound of seed potatoes from a Philadelphia seed house, and upon digging them called in Mr. Semlin to witness the results and weigh the produce—which turned out to be 280 1-2 pounds. The seed house offered a prize of $75 for the largest quantity raised from one pound of seed west of the Rockies, and a capital prize of $150 for the largest yield anywhere in America, so that Mr. Parke with his marvellous yield is a probable winner of both prizes.

Although Mr. John Fannou, of the provincial museum was unsuccessful in obtaining caribou on his last trip to Adams lake, he secured a specimen of the burrowing owl, now becoming quite a rarity. This bird is found almost nowhere else in Canada than in the inland of British Columbia, and only a year or two ago was quite common on the hillside above Kamloops, where the boys used to dig them out of the sandbank, and so catch them alive. They are greyish in color and small in size.

THE CHIEF COMMISSIONER.

Mr. Vernon has stepped down and Mr. Martin reigns in his stead as chief commissioner of lands and works. There is little significance in this event apart from the fact that it indicates an abandonment of the hope that Mr. Vernon might still be engineered into the seat for East Yale. The chances are that Mr. Martin will make neither a better nor a worse chief commissioner than his predecessor. More incompetent he cannot well prove himself, for Mr. Vernon has made a wonderful record in that line. On the other hand, there is only too little in Mr. Martin's record to give ground for hope that he will bring about those improvements in the lands and works administration which are so sorely needed. The member for North Yale no doubt understands as well as other people that he was chosen for the position only because no better man was available in the mainland coterie of government supporters; it would not have done to select another island member for the cabinet. Probably there is no one so foolish as to expect that the change will affect the public interests in a favorable way. The roads and bridges and other public improvements will be manipulated in the same old way, government advantage and not the public convenience being constantly kept in view. Then the money annually voted for public works will be wasted and diverted as they were under Mr. Vernon's direction—or failure to direct. It is quite possible that if the Vancouver World keeps its eyes open it will find occasion to repeat the statement which it made not long ago in regard to the fearful waste of public money in the building of roads. It is a great pity this squandering could not be stopped and the administration of the department be improved generally, but he would be a most sanguine individual who would predict any improvement with Mr. Martin in charge. Money is to be borrowed now for the execution of public works which could have been amply provided for if the funds devoted to this purpose in the past had been husbanded as they should have been.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A dispatch from Prince Albert, N. W. T., says: "No better evidence of the anxiety of the people of the west to see and to hear the Liberal leader could be afforded than the fact that two score people drove ninety miles in a blinding snow storm from Battleford to Duck Lake and travelled fifty miles further by rail to attend the meeting that he addressed to-day." This is the sort of evidence which the Tory organs are most careful to ignore.

An Ottawa dispatch of last Wednesday says: "Sir Hibbert Tupper returned to-day from Nova Scotia. He leaves tomorrow night for North Bay to attend a convention to nominate a candidate for the Nipissing district for the Dominion house. Mr. Haggart and Mr. Ochmet will accompany him." Sir Hibbert could not leave the bedside of his sick [illegible] the Northwest and British Columbia, but he is nevertheless able to make trips to Nova Scotia and North Bay. This latter circumstance puts a peculiar appearance, to say the least, on his failure to come west.

FIVE SCHOONERS ARRIVE.

The Fleet of Sealing Schooners Rapidly Returning Home.

The sealing schooners are rapidly returning to port, and before many days the entire fleet will be moored in winter quarters. The schooners Annie C. Moore, Captain Hackett, and Sapphire, Captain William Cox, arrived on Saturday night. The Moore got 1947 seals in Behring sea, making her total catch for the season 2255. She was fifteen days coming from the pass and had a pretty rough passage of it. She ran into a gale which was about as heavy as any the crew ever saw. Speaking about the voyage Captain Hackett said this morning:

"The weather was finer this year in Behring sea than I ever saw it. Why, we were able to lower ten days in succession once, and got one thousand skins. The seals were very plentiful, and if we had been permitted to use guns we could have killed four thousand. They were very wild and hard to approach."

The Sapphire got 2166 in the sea, making her total catch for the season 2641. Captain Cox says that he never got fairly among the seals, although for several days a number of his canoes got in among the herds. Never, however, did all his canoes make big catches. The first day out from the pass on the way home the schooner lost her jibboom, making about the only incident of the trip. Two of the skins brought home by the Sapphire are perhaps the largest ever seen here. Both are of bulls and one is over ten feet long. It took two canoes and a hard, exciting fight to get the latter. He was no doubt the largest seal ever killed by any of the pelagic fleet.

The little schooner Henrietta, Captain Daly, arrived home last night. She did not reach the sea until August 25, but despite that got 760 skins. Considering her small crew and the short time she sealed she did very well. She left the sea on September 16th and passed Cape Flattery on October 5th. Her voyage was without incident.

The sealing schooner Kilmeny with a catch of 600 skins arrived home last night. She had an uneventful cruise. The schooner Venture, Capt. Morhouse, arrived home from Behring sea to-day. She has 994 skins for the season. She had Indian hunters and during her cruise nothing of a special nature occurred. All of the schooners which came in since Saturday have docked and are discharging their skins.

The schooner Minnie's catch was not correctly reported the other day. She has 2,256 skins.

NANAIMO NEWS.

Agricultural Show Proves a Grand Success.

Nanaimo, Oct. 8.—The first agricultural show held in this city on Saturday proved an immense success, both from an attractive and financial standpoint. The task of judging the different articles was in many instances rather difficult. Some of the spectators who have taken part in the large eastern shows expressed surprise at the collection and quality of produce on exhibition, and one gentleman of note in this city wondered why agriculture was not more followed than it is, as the exhibition clearly proved the land was rich enough for the purpose. The silver cornet band was engaged for the afternoon, and in the evening the show was terminated by a grand ball on the platform.

Dr. Pope, superintendent of education, has decided that in the event of a substitute being engaged to take the place of an appointed teacher for a brief period, the remuneration must be according to whatever bargain is made between them. What some people want to know is whether they are entitled, in the event of no bargain being made, to the same salary as received by the appointed teacher.

There appears to be no hope of a stir being made to rebuild on the site of the recent fire.

The bark John Briggs and ship India sailed yesterday for California with cargoes of New Vancouver Coal Company's coal.

HON. GEORGE MARTIN.

Mr. Vernon Resigns and Mr. Martin Is Appointed in his Stead.

The announcement was made on Saturday evening that Hon. Forbes George Vernon, who was defeated at the recent general elections, had resigned his portfolio as chief commissioner of lands and works and that George Bohun Martin, member for North Yale, had been appointed to the position. The announcement was hardly expected, as it was thought that the government would wait until the result of the protest against Mr. Graham, who defeated Mr. Vernon, had been made known before the chief commissioner would hand in his resignation. But no doubt they thought better and decided not to proceed with the protest, and the premier being unable to find an opening for his colleague in Kootenay, the resignation had to follow. The date of the election in Mr. Martin's riding, made necessary by his acceptance of office, has not been decided upon. The writ has been issued, the date being left to the returning officer.

Mr. Martin is the son of the late Captain G. B. Martin, C. B., Royal Navy, and Isabella Harriet, only daughter of the late Admiral Sir Thomas Briggs, K. C. B. He was born in England on Christmas day, 1842, and was educated at Cheltenham, England. He was first elected to the legislative assembly at the elections held on October 13th, 1882, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the member-elect, Mr. P. Bennett.

A GREWSOME EXPERIMENT.

A Professor to Elicit Speech from a Decapitated Head.

Berlin, Oct. 8.—The Buda Pesth Hirlap gives an account of a novel, though grewsome, experiment that is to be made upon the next subject of the guillotine, and it also narrates the unhappy termination of hypnotism that will be of interest to those indulging in this phase of science. Dr. Bernheim, professor of hypnotism and nervous specialties in the college of medicine at Nancy, has long been impressed with the belief that the severed head of a criminal at the guillotine could be made to respond to a question and the life could be retained in it if a man were hypnotized before death. So strong has this belief been with him that he has experimented, so far as possible, with lesser animals, and has finally, according to the Hirlap, obtained permission from the authorities to test his theory upon the next criminal brought for execution. The method the doctor proposes to adopt is to place the person in a hypnotic or cataleptic condition, and thus have the brain so thoroughly under control that its every thought and pulsation shall be guided absolutely by his will. Just before the criminal is taken to the place of execution this hypnotic power will be exerted, and the action in walking to the guillotine and all the revolting details that accompany that last scene, will be enacted automically, as far as the prisoner is concerned. When the head is removed the influence will be at once exerted by the hypnotist, and whether it be then dead or alive will be commanded to force a recognition in some manner as to whether or not it retains consciousness. Dr. Bernheim claims that the strength of the influence will be sufficiently great to compel the head, even in the presence of death, to make responses to the call upon it. He claims that the process of unconsciousness and the entire absence from the mind of the imaginative or even the comprehensive quality, will arrest the progress of death for a sufficient time to enable the mind to work out a reply to the question which will be put to it as quickly as possible after the knife has fallen. How soon this experiment can be made is not now stated, but when it is it may be certain of a most attentive audience spread over the entire world.

An evening paper in Toronto published a sensational article alleging that aldermen endeavored to obtain from the Toronto Electric company $12,000 on condition that they supported their application for the municipal lighting contract. The company refused, and they came down to $6,000, which was still refused.

A Montreal dispatch says: The first meeting of the police investigation was held yesterday afternoon. There were present besides the committee a large number of aldermen and citizens and counsel representing the citizens. It was plain from the outset that the French element of the committee meant to broke the inquiry if possible. They would not agree to anything that would facilitate the working of the committee. What they wanted was specific charges against individual members of the force. After that they were willing to go on investigating the working of the department. The English members and citizens just wanted this order reversed, but they could not carry their point, and as there were no charges against individuals an adjournment was taken for a week. The resolution providing for procedure does not shut off the right to bring individual charges during any session of the committee, while it may be considered departmental working, but the French members considered otherwise and sought to dispose of all individual charges in a bunch. On the other hand the Englishmen contended that the investigation of departmental working of the force would bring to light a whole crop of charges against individual members of the force.

The Times office will be open this evening from 7.30 until 9, where those who wish to register may do so. The latter makes periodical visits to Canada, visiting all the provinces and noting the progress made by settlers and the advantages that can be offered to intending immigrants. Mr. Fortier's visit was more for the purpose of finding out the policy pursued by the provincial government regarding immigration and having the Dominion and provincial governments work in harmony with each other. They both obtained much assistance from Mr. Jessop, the provincial immigration agent.

—The public is becoming a little sceptical about waterproofed goods, whether for men or women. Claims have been made which were never substantiated. And at the very best they had a waterproofed look about them which was too often embarrassing. It is the distinguishing merit of Priestley's Cravenettes that they are precisely like the same goods not waterproofed. They are absolutely rain proof and yet porous, though there is nothing to show the rain repelling quality. Priestley's trade mark, "The Varnished Board," will always be found on these goods.

—R. P. Rithet & Co., limited, in their monthly freight and shipping report for September, say: Perhaps the most prominent characteristic of the business of the month has been the steadiness of rates, which at the close are very much where they were at the beginning. In the grain market a number of vessels have been taken up at 25s. net to Cork for orders, with the usual options, but they are mostly small carriers. For a ship of any size probably a slight concession would have to be made. The very active and formidable competition of the Argentine is now attracting much attention; a little too late, it would seem, for in the meantime California appears to have missed her market. The outlook for tonnage is consequently not very encouraging. Some improvement in the inquiry for lumber ships is to be noted, but the increased demand is not extended, and the foreign going vessels fixed are mostly the smaller sections still, there are signs of revival in several quarters. The lumber charters reported during the month are: Henrietta, Lismore and Geneva, Burrard Inlet to Valparaiso, Buenos Ayres and Iquiqui respectively.

—At the close of the assizes at Kamloops J. D. Hutchinson was given a speedy trial on charges of larceny and attempting to break jail. Two months ago he robbed the safe of the Cosmopolitan hotel at Kamloops and after being placed under arrest attempted to break jail. He elected to take speedy trial and was convicted on both counts. They were in a wild country, and when it was raining no hunting was done, as it was both dangerous and unpleasant. They went down on a special steamer and returned on the schooner Fisher Maid. They had a Chinese cook with them and had a very pleasant time generally.

—Lord and Lady Brassey have left for the Sound on the steamship City of Topeka, as guests of the Western officials of the Oregon Improvement Company. The visitors will then go to other points on the coast. They have been travelling by easy stages and one of the objects of the trip is to enquire into the condition of a colony settled in the Northwest through the philanthropy of Lord Brassey. The name of Lord Brassey is a familiar one, particularly to Englishmen. Born in Stafford in 1836, he entered politics early and rose to be civil lord of the admiralty and secretary of the admiralty. His books, speeches and letters on naval and labor subjects are authorities. He is an enthusiastic yachtsman and a genial man generally.

THE EXHIBITION IS OVER.

For the First Time in Many Years the Balance is on the Right Side.

Saturday Proves to be as Interesting a Day as the Previous One.

Victoria's exhibition of 1894 has come and gone, and the directors have learned that it pays in the long run to be enterprising, for, despite the heavy adverse circumstances that had to be contended with, the society feels now that when the accounts are balanced, there will be a percentage to the good. This is very gratifying, after several years of adversity, but it is only a fair reward, for the management took great risks this year, their scale of operations being broader and more far-reaching, and this in face of prophets who were never tired of predicting failure in any event. These prophets can now forever hold their peace, and the man who is always saying that the people of British Columbia are behind the Americans will never dare to say so now to anyone who witnessed the Victoria fair of 1894.

Saturday, the closing day, was not quite such a large one in the matter of attendance as Friday, but it was very nearly so, and the receipts were nearly as large, because there were more adults admitted, especially gentlemen, whereas on Friday the children were admitted at reduced rates, and, as stated before, the management were not niggardly in admitting numbers of the little ones free. In fact, the directors showed the example in patriotism, so to speak, by paying for themselves and families.

The directors also deserve a vote of thanks from the newspaper men whose questions were answered, and wants supplied with invariable courtesy and promptness. Particularly is this so with the genial president, Dr. Milne, the secretary, Mr. Renouf, the superintendent, Mr. Lamberton (to whom the public is also debtor for courtesies and attention), and Mr. A. J. Dallain, the untiring assistant secretary, as well as any of the other officials whom it was at any time necessary to approach for information.

One great convenience of this year's show was the dining room conducted by Mr. Henry Clay, whose object seemed to be to give the public comfort and satisfaction instead of making a lot of money out of the venture. Dinner was always prompt and well cooked, and well served, the bill of fare each day being the best and choicest. Mr. Clay believes in pleasant surroundings as an incentive to good appetite, so he had the dining room well lighted and cheerfully festooned with flags of different nations, while the waiters were bright, quick, attentive and cheerfully obliging. Mr. Clay is also to be congratulated for winning first prize for baker's bread, an honor which he took three years in succession at Toronto out of a large list of competitors, where the matter of deciding whose bread was the best was one of considerable difficulty for the judges.

William Tell may rest peacefully in his grave so far as the archers of Victoria are concerned, if the shooting at the exhibition grounds last Saturday is to be taken as an index of the capabilities of Victorians in that good old sport. The great shots of old were not beaten in any particular. The winners of the ladies' first prize for the 25 yards shot were Mrs. Saunders, Miss Isaacs and Mrs. Davie, first, second and third respectively, and Mr. Piper and Mr. Westwood divided honors for the 40 yards gentlemen's shoot, while nine ladies beat a similar number of gentlemen in a final shoot.

It took some time to look up the multitudinous officials of the bicycle races to start three competitors for the city championship; however, by dispensing with half a dozen or so, it was run off, and proved an interesting fight, Bradley, who came out of the crowd, "promiskus like," in his common, ordinary, everyday clothes, telephoned for his flying habiliments, and won the race easily, Johnson riding a good second.

The tug of war between the Canadian and a mixed Scotch team, was won by the former after a fifteen minute contest by five inches.

A striking feature of the exhibition this year was the number of local industries which launched out on a more than usually broad scale, not by any means the least important of which was the admirable exhibit from Mr. J. H. Falconer's factory on Fort street, and which occupied a good quarter side of the down stairs portion of the building. Mr. Falconer commenced business moderately here a few years ago, but although he is only a young man, he has the push and energy of a very old veteran in business, and consequently it did not take him long to make his mark in commercial circles here. From Victoria he branched out into the provinces, where he has been equally successful, till now he has built up in a comparatively few years a business which it takes some men a life time to establish. His factory is replete with everything necessary to constitute a perfectly appointed establishment, and the goods he sends out are of the best that experienced hands, and a keen insight into the public wants can supply. The display at the exhibition was evidence of this, embracing as it did every variety of table delicacy in the way of sauces, pickles, jams and other incentives, palatable relishes for the mess. Mr. Falconer's foreman is a man of over twenty years' experience, in this and other similar lines, so that with a principal whose chief desire is to maintain and increase if possible the good name his house has won, and a staff of efficience and experience, the public may be assured that anything which comes from this place can be relied upon as being of the best.

The following special prizes were offered by G. H. Brown, agent for Lyle's Puddings, and were awarded by the persons mentioned below: For table butter, J. D. Bryant, 1; J. S. Denholm, 2; packed butter, A. C. Wells & Son; ladies' fancy work, Mrs. F. W. OPPOSES ANNEXATION.

Figaro Thinks France Should Not Annex Madagascar.

Paris, Oct. 8.—In a letter Deputy Deloncle declares that Great Britain has been loyal to the convention of 1885, and says he believes England will not alter her policy in regard to Madagascar. Figaro opposes French annexation of Madagascar on the ground that it would be too costly and the advantages extremely doubtful.

IN THE CHURCHES.

Harvest and Welcome Home Services Held Yesterday.

Harvest home services were held in St. John's church yesterday morning and evening, the decorations being very pretty. An appropriate choral service was rendered by the choir under the direction of Mr. Grizelle. Bishop Perrin preached in the evening.

The harvest festivals announced for this week are: St. James', Wednesday evening; St. Barnabas, Thursday and St. Luke's, Saturday. Bishop Perrin will preach on each occasion.

At the Metropolitan Methodist church yesterday morning harvest services were held, Rev. S. Cleaver preaching and the choir rendering a special musical service. Products of the field and garden had been profusely used in the decoration of the church. In the evening welcome home services were held for the sealers. There were large congregations both morning and evening.

First Presbyterian church was last evening packed to the utmost, chairs being placed in the aisles to accommodate the large congregation which assembled at the annual sealers and sailors' thanksgiving service. Dr. Campbell preached a practical sermon, from Heb. vi., 19, drawing many pointed lessons from the use of the anchor and anchring those dependent to man as a passenger on the sea of time. The singing by the choir was excellent. Mr. Brown was at his best and sang with thrilling effect as solos, "Ye're a' Welcome Hame," and Philip Phillips "Rescue."

PRISONS OF SCOTLAND.

Statistics Given in the Report of the Commissioners.

The prison commissioners for Scotland have a somewhat sorry story to tell in reporting a rise in the number of commitals to prisons in Scotland. The increase in 1893-4 was 3,619 over the number of the previous year, though the rise in population was only 205. Glasgow, Dundee and Ayr appear to be chiefly responsible. The great majority of acquittals are accounted for by sentences for drunkenness, breaches of the peace and petty assaults, nearly three-fourths of the prisoners being confined for these offences. The number of female convicts, we are glad to see, continues to fall, but the change in the number of male convicts is slight. January appears to be the favorite month for the male offenders and April shows the least number. Within the prison "talking," "idleness" and "writing on the cell walls" are reported as the chief offences. With regard to the first, the commissioners evidently think it is partly due to the uninteresting character of some of the work the prisoners have to perform and the "natural hesitation to introduce large industries with the aid of machinery into government prisons' is referred to. The chaplain of one of the prisons [illegible] before the prisoners; some make professions of amendment, but it is not easy to say whether this is due to religious impressions or to the salutary influence of prison discipline."

BLAKE SCORED.

Americans Advised not to Subscribe to the Irish Fund.

New York, Oct. 8.—A circular has been issued by the Irish independent parliamentary party of this city, of which Edward O'Flaherty is president, protesting against any assistance being given by loyal Irishmen to the Hon. Edward Blake, M. P. The circular states that Mr. Blake comes to the United States as a begging ambassador to replenish the funds of the Whig factions in Ireland, who have openly acknowledged an Englishman as their leader. He is accused of representing an inharmonious aggregation of political factions, all tied to the British chariot wheels, and variously known as McCarthyites, Tim Healyites and Dillonites, whose blunders and dissensions have become a by-word and a reproach to Ireland. Mr. Blake's backers came in for a terrific raking over. They are charged with betraying evicted tenants, bullying the green flag of Ireland and using every artifice to destroy the national honor.

The circular concludes: "If the Irish people of America are not lost to all sense of decency, if they do not forget the beneficial results of Parnell's policy of independence which gave Ireland a place among the nations; if they are not blind to the degradation to which Ireland has fallen since his death; if they do not wish to see Ireland become an English province in reality, they will leave the Hon. Edward Blake to be fêted by those who believe with him that if Ireland were freely offered her independence she would be foolish to dissolve her partnership with the land of Cromwell and Pitt."

CARLISLE FOR SENATOR.

Or is the Secretary of the Treasury after the Presidency.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 8.—The Daily Capital, the official paper of the democracy in Kentucky, and generally considered reliable on political matters, will say to-morrow: "John G. Carlisle, secretary of the United States treasury, wants to be, and expects to be, a candidate for senator from Kentucky before the legislature which convenes next January a year. There are numerous little reasons, but to give these reasons in detail would require more space than newspapers devote to the biggest items of news and would besides, necessitate the violation of more than one confidence. Sufficient it is to state that Mr. Carlisle's closest friends will have to change their minds as at present he is not one of the senatorial aspirants in what promises to be a very remarkable race." Of course this indicates that Mr. Carlisle thinks the time not yet ripe for him to seek or accept the presidential nomination of his party. His entrance into the senatorial race will make it one of the most interesting ever held unless it should result in the withdrawal of several prospective candidates.

Washington, Oct. 8.—It is not believed here that Secretary Carlisle has not received any announcement that he is a candidate for the senate. The secretary could not be seen to-night but his friends express surprise at the report from Frankfort. The fact that the announcement refers to "the legislature which convenes next January a year" is puzzling and leads politicians to doubt the reliability of the article.

DEATH OF MRS. WILSON.

A Scottish Lady Who Recalled the Times of the Secession.

On the 11th instant there passed away, in her 86th year, a highly gifted and accomplished woman, who was described by one who knew her well, Dr. John Brown, the author of "Rab and His Friends," as "a bright personality, potent and peremptory—not from any masculine harshness, but from the charm of feminine attraction." Elizabeth Thomson Wilson had long been—for many circles on both sides of the Tweed, as far north as Inverness, and as far south as Berks—a link to the several generations of the 19th century. She was widely known in secession (afterwards United Presbyterian) manses as Miss Thomson of Coldstream, and next as Mrs. John Wilson of Ladylaw, Hawick, where she was seen at home in the more extended sphere of company and politics. She was closely connected with the leaders of the two great movements for free trade in Bibles and in corn. She was the eldest daughter of the Rev. A. Thomson, of Coldstream, who took a prominent part in abolishing the Scottish monopoly in Bible printing, and in securing a vast reduction on the price of Bibles, and a corresponding increase in their circulation, and by marriage she became sister-in-law to the Right Hon. James Wilson who—as proprietor and editor of the London Economist, and as a member both of parliament and of government—was an important ally to Cobden and Bright, and whose capacity to deal with national finance was attested by his high office in India, where, however, the climate prematurely closed his career, though he left a nephew, Sir W. Hunter, who has risen to distinction by his valuable writings on the peoples and resources of that mighty dependency. Elizabeth Thomson was born in February, 1809 in the Secession manse at Coldstream.

INLAND EXHIBITION.

Successful Fair Held at Kamloops Last Week.

The annual exhibition of the Inland Agricultural Association was held last week, there being a large attendance from the surrounding district and good exhibits in all lines. The exhibition was formally opened by Mr. C. A. Semlin, who was introduced by the president, Mr. T. W. Graham. Mr. Semlin in welcoming the visitors complimented them on the display made and the interest manifested by all the people of the district. Sports took place on each of the three afternoons of the fair and were keenly contested. On Friday the annual meeting was held and the following officers elected: President, J. C. Barnes, Ashcroft; vice-presidents, Wm. Walker and Charles Prenie; Secretary, J. J. McKay; Treasurer, W. Bailey; Directors, [illegible] Thomas G. Earle, W. Fearn, W. Lyne, W. Fortune, C. A. Semlin, James Haddock, Samuel Moore, H. O. Bowe, W. J. Roper, S. Tingley, W. Morrison and D. McAulay.

KOOTENAY CROPPINGS.

Gold from French Creek—Enterprise in Cariboo Creek.

Revelstoke Mail.

Mr. John Boyd arrived in town this week, accompanied by his wife. Mr. Boyd has disposed of his interests in Dewdney, where he has had a ranch for the past three or four years, but was discouraged by the disastrous floods of last spring. He intends locating on a ranch he has secured on Downie creek, Big Bend, where he has built a house and made all preparations for wintering. His partner, T. W. Bain, with his family, who have also been residing in Dewdney, will remove to the Bend and locate near Mr. Boyd.

A gang of C. P. R. workmen have been started to work repairing the big railroad bridge across the Columbia. A large quantity of timber is already on the ground and the repairs promise to be extensive. This indefinitely postpones the replacing of this ramshackle old structure by a modern bridge of steel, which it was expected would be started this fall.

A. N. Beaton, of the Vandall mine, French Creek, arrived down on Tuesday with his pack train. He intends making two more trips this season. He brought with him $400 in nuggets and fine gold from the Vandall, which represented the product of two picks for ten days work.

Nakusp Ledge.

G. O. Pitts, representing a syndicate of Portland capitalists, who went into the Cariboo creek placer fields a few days ago and became enthused over the indications, has determined to bring his enthusiasm to a practical test. He has secured the Vader claim and engaged men to sink a shaft to bed rock. Supplies have been ordered and good wages will be given the men. Pitts, who is a mining man of experience, believes that the creek is destined to prove one of the richest placer and mineral camps yet discovered. He has telegraphed to H. A. Anderson, of Spokane, another expert, to come in at once and help develop the property.

A factory for manufacturing giant powder is about to be established on Slocan Lake close to New Denver. The projectors will erect seven buildings, and they expect to drive out all competitors in their business. The result of their labors will make a great noise in the mountains.

HUTCH'S LATEST DEAL.

The Old Wheat Gambler Becomes a [illegible]

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 8.—B. P. Hutchinson, once Chicago's greatest board of trade operator, and familiarly known as "Old Hutch" closed his latest deal on Saturday. It was his cigar business. He opened a retail store near the corner of Van Buren street and Pacific avenue but business was slow. In the rear of the cigar store, however, a poker game flourished. The civic authorities became aware of this side issue to the cigar store business, and a raid was threatened. The management accordingly concluded to stop selling cigars, so a "for rent" sign was placed in a conspicuous place and the doors were closed.

A bomb with lighted fuse was found last night at the main door of the central police station in Milan. The fuse was extinguished and several arrests have been made.

BRITISH LABOR CANDIDATES.

Independent Labor Party Organizing for the Elections.

London, Oct. 8.—That the question of independent labor representation in parliament, which formed the principal bone of contention at the recent trade union congress at Norwich, is now regarded as a most serious factor in all parts of the country, but more especially in the metropolis, where politicians are closely watching every new move of the independent labor party, is demonstrated by the unusual interest taken in the report of Tom Mann, general secretary of the independent labor party, which was made public to-day. Concerning the progress of the movement toward placing independent labor representatives in the house of commons, the report says: "The special campaign in the metropolitan area has been much more successful than the most sanguine anticipated, the crowded and practically unanimous meetings recently held being an agreeable contrast to some of the earlier ones. Inside of three months we shall have twenty-five branches in the London district, and several parliamentary candidates will have been fixed upon. The power to run candidates at the recurring bye-elections depends largely upon the financial condition of the independent labor party exchequer. The whole or[illegible] pence; it will be a great pity if when opportunities occur to run a candidate the movement should be checked for lack of funds. The mission of the labor party is to educate the public up to the knowledge that Socialism has a direct bearing upon all questions connected with the freedom and uplifting of the masses. Labor is now entering every arena of national and political warfare. At last London is taking the labor movement seriously."

David B. Hill has accepted the Democratic nomination for governor of New York.

The next international convention of the Christian Endeavor Society will be held in Boston instead of San Francisco, as previously announced, the western roads not having given special rates to the coast.

G. G. CHANDLER KILLED.

Met Instant Death in a Street Car Accident at Tacoma.

G. G. Chandler, general agent of the Northern Pacific at Tacoma, was instantly killed in a street car accident Saturday night. Deceased was well known here, especially among business men, and visited here but a week ago. The frightful accident which cost him his life will be greatly deplored by his many friends here.

The electric car on which the accident occurred was returning from the interstate fair and was crowded with people. Chandler and a number of others were standing on the front platform behind the motorman. As the wheels struck the south crossing of North Second street the axle on the front truck broke near the right wheel. The car left the track and plunged along at an angle to the right of the track for a rod and then fell on its left side. Chandler, who was standing on the steps, fell underneath, and the heavy wood and iron work of the car struck him full in the face, crushing out his life and leaving his head in a shapeless mass. Chandler's face was mangled beyond recognition, and for some moments after the wreck his identity was in doubt, and was only settled by examining his watch, on which his name was engraved. The deceased was aged 37, leaves a wife and family, and had been agent at Tacoma since 1887. Out of respect to his memory the City of Kingston came in last evening with her flag at half mast.

The others injured in the accident were: James F. O'Brien, deputy county clerk, right leg mangled; Ed. R. Hare, collecting clerk, city treasurer's office, left shoulder dislocated; M. Sidney, real estate agent, hurt about the face; Mrs. M. F. Sidney, bruised and cut in several places; Miss Bertha Laughton, badly bruised and rendered insensible; also cut about the head; A. W. Lathan, an employe of the Ledger business office, slight bruises on the arm, head and shoulders.

THE FARMERS' CONVENTION

Will Re-Convene at Chilliwack Sept. 17—Next Year's Meeting.

The farmers' convention adjourned at Agassiz in August will meet again at Chilliwack on the 17th inst., during fair week. The committee on organization named before adjournment has its report ready to submit, and the final stages of organization will be rapidly gone through. It is probable that a fight will be made to rescind the government mortgage loan scheme resolution offered by A. St. George Hamersley and passed at Agassiz, and it is propable that other resolutions on various subjects will be passed, so the committee named to place all the matters covered by resolution before the government will have their task increased. The farmers are to gather at Agassiz again next year, and Professor Sharpe, of the experimental farm, said when here last week that he believed the convention would be still larger than that of last year. An effort is to be made to have Professor Saunders, Professor Robertson, Minister Turner and ex-Governor Hoard of Wisconsin present.

BELIEVED IN A DREAM.

Siwash Who Linked the Real and Unreal and Wanted to Die.

The returning sealers from the Japan coast tell a story that is funny, serious and passing strange, if that sort of a story is possible. While a number of the schooners were in Hakodate a west coast siwash sailing with Captain Whidden went ashore. Japan is a paradise for siwashes, for they can buy all the whiskey they can drink. The siwash got fairly full, and wandering into an auction room stole a pair of boots. He was promptly arrested and jailed. When the Japanese jailer made the rounds in the morning he found the siwash hanging to a rafter. He was then warm, and the turnkey promptly cut him down. Restoratives were applied, his tillicums were sent for, and after an hour's hard work the Indian opened his eyes. When he saw his fellow tillicums he sprang up, embraced them and laughed heartily. It all happened this way. When the siwash fell asleep he dreamed that all the sealing schooners had left Japan, bearing away his tillicums, and that he was deserted, in prison and worse than a stranger in a strange land. Awaking, he found himself a prisoner, believed the dream to be true and was a very sick siwash. He could see no hope and decided to kill himself. The jailer's arrival was timely, for in another five minutes the hunter would have been off the sealing grounds for good.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

A Gist of What is Going on the World Over.

THE TURF.

Morris Park, N. Y., Oct. 8.—The battle for the supremacy of the American running turf was fought on the undulating plains of Westchester on Saturday afternoon, and Henry of Navarre now wears the crown. The race was a three cornered special. Henry of Navarre, the once peerless Domino and the doughty champion of the west, Clifford, were the contestants. The financial prize was $5000. This was not the only stake. The championship was really at issue; the winner of the race would be allowed to go into winter quarters the acknowledged king. It was argued that there was not a pound of difference between the trio. To make matters more than usually interesting, Domino had beaten Henry of Navarre and had also run a dead heat with him. Clifford had suffered defeat at Domino's hands and had lowered the colors of the unlucky Henry of Navarre. In all of these races they had only been noses apart and each horse had been driven to the utmost limit of endurance to beat the other, with the exception of Domino's race with Clifford. The interest in the race was at fever heat. Domino was the popular idol and he was the favorite. Clifford was also in more active demand than Henry of Navarre. The last named did not look like himself. His astute owner, Byron McClelland, pretended to be in doubt until late whether he would send Henry of Navarre to the post or not. He finally yielded under pressure. This is exactly the impression the wily Kentuckian wished to convey. He did not want Henry of Navarre to be the favorite, and he was not. Henry of Navarre's true form was purposely concealed in his summing up. At the close of the quotations Domino was an even money favorite, with Clifford at 2 to 1 and Henry of Navarre at 3 to 1. No big or small bets were made.

At 4.02 the bugle call summoned the equine gladiators to the post, Domino showing more temper than usual and a decided reluctance to go to the post. It took his trainers quite a time to get him to move. Domino was greeted with terrific applause. He pleased the spectators, but he pleased his owner even better. "Domino," he said, "is fit for the race of his life." He came in for a furore of hand clapping. Henry of Navarre did not create any great excitement when he cantered slowly past the grand stand to show his colors. Clifford came in for a burst of applause. The twenty-five thousand persons that surged in and about the lawns and grand stand rose as one person to greet him. Clifford acted very sourly on his way to the post.

There were several minor breaks before they got the signal to start. Domino had a slight advantage over Henry of Navarre, while Clifford was at their heels. Domino at once began to force the pace. It was his forte to tip-toe Henry of Navarre from flag to finish. He went in to do this. It seemed to suit Henry of Navarre. He went with him. Domino had a lead of a head at the first furlong post and the pair were a length and a half ahead of Clifford. They reached up the incline and across the brow of the hill without the slightest change. The pace was terrific and the excitement intense as they neared the home stretch without any change.

The water tower was passed and they were in the long, undulating home stretch when Domino tried to draw clear of Henry of Navarre. He was unable to do so. The chestnut hung to him with bull dog tenacity. At the furlong post Domino began to show signs of faltering. Taral began to drive him. It was no use. He struggled on [illegible] goading from whip and spur. His task, however, was too much. Taral sensibly saw the futility of further perseverance and gave in. "Clifford" rang out before the groans that emanated from the throats of the Domino admirers when their idol fell from his pedestal had died away. With that wonderful space devouring stride that has made him famous Clifford bounded up to Henry of Navarre. "He wins in a gallop," shouted every one with the same breath. The cry was premature. Clayton had not called upon Henry of Navarre, although Clifford had his nose in front. Clayton then settled down to ride Henry of Navarre. A depesate struggle ensued, and amid intense excitement Henry of Navarre slowly but surely drew away from the doughty Clifford and crossed the line a winner by a length. Clifford finished fifteen lengths ahead of Domino. Time, 1.52 1-4.

EAST KOOTENAY.

Suicide at Fort Steele—Mining Matters Looking Up.

Golden Era.

R. L. T. Galbraith, who has just returned from a visit to the Indians in West Kootenay, reports mining matters looking up in that section. He states that the reclamation scheme is progressing satisfactorily.

The Ridgway Company of the Moyie have struck good pay and are taking out about $15 per day to the hand.

The stores have decided for the future to close on Sunday. This is as it should be.

It is reported that Mr. William Fernie has found a good pass via the "Yak" for the B. C. S. R. R., and it has been decided to build a direct line to Spokane. This will give the company a first class market for their coal.

Steve Young has made a discovery of free milling ore at Weaver Creek. The ledge is about three feet wide and will average about $126 per ton in gold. He intends working it all winter.

We regret to have to record one of the most deliberate cases of suicide, which occurred in our usually quiet village on Wednesday morning last, the 12th of September. Leach Taylor or Leithfield Taylor, a young man of most respectable parents who reside at Choteau county, Montana, took his life in a most deliberate manner on that day. It appears a few days before he had been drinking a little and got very despondent and told several parties around the town that he was determined to take his life and a guard was put on him by Constable Barnes and, on the evening previous to the suicide he appeared sane and understood what he was doing. He met some friends, talked pleasantly to them and bid them good night, so they left him thinking he was all right. Next morning his body was found with a bullet hole through his breast under the bridge by Mr. Frizzle who had gone down to fetch a bucket of water. An inquest was held on the body by Coroner Maclean, and the jury found that the deceased "committed suicide while suffering from temporary insanity." The affair has cast a gloom over the town as Taylor was a general favorite among the miners and residents and much sympathy is felt for his friends who are very respectable people.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

Doncaster Proves Too Speedy for All Smoke When Carrying Even Weights.

Two of the Fastest Races Ever Run in the Province—Other Sporting Events.

THE TURF.

PRIMERO SOLD.

Manager Field, of the Victoria driving park, has purchsed Primero, the trotter, from P. Carey, the price paid, including track paraphernalia being, it is said, $500. Mr. Field bought Primero when he was a colt and brought him to Victoria. Some time ago he sold him to Mr. Carey for the same price that he paid for him last week. Primero is one of the gamest trotters in the province and is a match for the best of them when properly handled and in condition. He had not been out of his stable for a week when he went on the track on Saturday, but he did the mile in 2.35. This is remarkably good work.

ALL SMOKE GOES HOME.

George Wentworth left on Sunday morning for Vancouver on his way home to Calgary with All Smoke, who until beaten by Doncaster on Saturday had taken first money in every race in which she was entered since arriving on the coast. All Smoke simply dragged herself out of the track, the two races on Saturday with a heavy jockey having been more than she could stand. Among horsemen there was little surprise expressed at Doncaster's victory over All Smoke with even weight, and competent judges say that the local horse when in proper trim can give All Smoke forty pounds and beat her. Doncaster has been steadily improving, his slight lameness having almost entirely left him. It was on account of this lameness that he was not worked for the fall races of the Victoria Jockey club, but merely exercised. It was found, however, that he was better when worked, so they worked him for last week's meeting, the success of which is shown by his victories.

TURF NOTES.

Joe Patchen and Robert J. will pace at Sioux City on Thursday for a purse of $6000.

LOCAL RACES.

There were several good races on the cards for the meeting at the Driving Park on Saturday, and they proved very interesting, but unfortunately bad management on the part of the judges caused dissatisfaction and bad feeling. The first race of the day was the trotting contest between Davis Boy and Stormont. Davis boy won the race in three straight heats.

One of the most exciting races Victorians have had an opportunity of witnessing for years occurred in the five furlong handicap. All Smoke, winner of 15 races out of 18 starts at various places from St. Louis to the Pacific coast, game old Rifton, son of the mighty race horse Luke Blackburn, by a daughter of the much beloved imported Bonnie Scotland, and Doncaster, the resolute Australian campaigner, a son of The Drummer, an English winner, and Devotion, daughter of the famous antipodean sire race horse Goldsburgh, were the contestants. Rifton was allotted 100 pounds, All Smoke and Doncaster 115 weight. The boy had never suffered defeat while mounted on his Calgary pet. Millington bestride of Rifton made each look and act the good horse and rider they were, while under a crimson cap sat as honest a jockey as ever touched pigskin, Sankey, and 'neath him was the Kangarooster. Shrewd horsemen present hesitated to venture an opinion upon the result of the coming struggle. Prophets were all agog. The sweet after morsel, "I told you so," should not this time fall to any man. Hoarsely shouted the bookies "5 to 3 against any horse in the race. Take your chance, gentlemen. Everyone a winner. All out for the blood and fit to go." With colors according to the card (by the way, why is this not always insisted upon?) each horse cantered to the post. At the second break the flag fell with the horses lined to a nicety. Round the upper turn they came, Rifton slightly in the lead, All Smoke next, Doncaster [illegible] behind. Down past the stand they swept, Rifton and All Smoke neck and neck, Doncaster a length behind. Past the club house and into the back stretch they continued with positions unaltered. Backers of All Smoke grew anxious. Rifton would not be headed and the gallant little mare was all out. Up the stretch still they fought for the lead, the mare's nose advancing just barely creeping to the leader's. Into the upper turn they came, Rifton scarcely six inches in the van, and now begins a battle royal. With knees and voice and a Garrison hump, Millington urges on his flying steed, and nobly does he respond, but the mare now under spur and lash creeps relentlessly on. Sankey's position, too, has changed. No longer sitting statue like, he leans further forward, and with an uplifted hand would strike, but the whip never descended, for the noble horse shot through an opening at the corner and now is abreast of the leaders. On he comes, but oh, so slowly; inch by inch he approaches the line of Rifton's nose. Now he has reached it, but the white face of the mare still shows in front. Gradually, but now perceptibly he overhauls her, fighting desperately every inch of ground. The murmur of the crowd is hushed to silence; slowly but surely Doncaster pushes forward. He is in front now and a sigh of relief escapes his backers as the horses flash past the wire, Doncaster a winner by half a length from All Smoke, with Rifton [illegible] a heavy half mile track of one minute five and a half seconds, expert timers making the time of the half mile in fifty seconds.

Summary to furlong handicap open to all horses—Geo. Byrnes' b. s. Doncaster, The Drummer, Devotion, 115 lbs., Sankey, 1st; Wentworth's br. m. All Smoke, Imported Silk Gown, Ordinance, 105 lbs.; ——, 2nd; Breman's b. g. Rifton, Luke Blackburn, d. by Imported Bonnie Scotland, 100 lbs., Millington, 3rd. Time, 1:05 1-2.

It was at the close of this race that the judges caused so much dissatisfaction. They hung out a board giving the second place to Rifton. The representatives of the press drew their attention to the mistake but they declined to listen. Then outsiders began to object but they would not change the board until the crowd commenced to hoot them. They then made the excuse that they could not see the finish on account of the people in the judges' stand, whereas they were in front and the intruders (?) were in the rear.

Little Johnnie and Primero were the only entries in the second trotting and pacing [illegible] and Primero the second in 2:35. There was a foul in the third heat and the race was put off until to-day.

The mile dash had only two entries, the speed of All Smoke and Doncaster frightening off the others. The race needs little comment. Doncaster took the lead at the start and galloped round hard held until just at the finish, when All Smoke's jockey, who had been riding a waiting race, made a rush, but it was of no avail, as Doncaster's rider gave him his head and he came in an easy winner.

Summary:—Geo. Byrnes' b. s. Doncaster, The Drummer, Devotion, 115 lbs., Sanky 1st; Wentworth's br. m. All Smoke, Imported Silk Gown, Ordinance, 110 lbs., Myers, 2nd. Time, 1:50.

BRUTALLY BEATEN.

Indians Assault a White Man, Whom They Say Robbed Them.

John McCabe was given a horrible beating by George and Ucum, two of [illegible] on Wharf street near the custome house at 4 o'clock yesterday, and but for interference he would probably have been beaten to death. The Indians claimed that McCabe had sold them liquor and then had tried to rob them, and that they were getting their revenge. The Indians used their fists and feet, with clubs and rocks, on McCabe, and had him down and insensible when some one interfered. They were not in a humor to stop, and a general row seemed imminent for a time. The police were sent for, and Officers Walker and Smith took the three in charge. McCabe's head was almost twice its natural size, he had half a dozen cuts on his face and his body was badly bruised in several places. The two Indians were represented in court this morning by S. Perry Mills, and were first charged with being drunk. They were convicted and then charged with assault, but the hearing of the latter case was adjourned until tomorrow. Captain William Cox says the Indians are good men, while the police say McCabe does not belong to the 400. McCabe is at the city prison recovering from his injuries.
